Arts Management

Through the arts management major, students will understand the issues, problems and policy interventions impacting the contemporary arts and cultural industries, develop business and managerial skills for professional decision making in arts and cultural organizations, and practice creative and critical thinking, opportunity recognition and innovation in various arts and cultural environments. Students will also understand the professional role and responsibilities of successful creative individuals in contemporary society.

Pursuing Arts Management at Ohio State
All freshman applicants are considered within a competitive admission process; find admissions criteria at go.osu.edu/admissions.

Upon admission to the university, students can declare a major in arts management within the College of Arts and Sciences.

Arts Management Requirements
Successful completion of the program requires the following:
• A minimum of 36 credit hours in the departments of Art Education, Management, Finance, and Accounting.
• A maximum of 9 transfer credit hours
• A minimum C- for major courses
• A minimum 2.0 cumulative point-hour ratio required for major courses
• Pass/Non-Pass courses not counted toward the major
• Any changes to the degree requirements must be approved by the Steering Committee in the Arts Policy and Administration program

Program Goals
The following four (4) program areas, the related objectives, and the anticipated outcomes are used to assess the students in the arts management program throughout all required courses.

Students identify the issues, problems, and policy interventions impacting the contemporary arts and cultural sector. They will be able:
• To map the relationships within the creative sector: the artist, the artistic product/service, the industries, and the infrastructure;
• To appreciate both similarities and differences among different arts fields (e.g., theatre, dance, museums, orchestras, etc.);
• To interpret the role of social/cultural values, beliefs and attitudes related to audience participation, advocacy, and education in contemporary arts and culture participation;
• To understand the legal, economic, technological influences shaping the cultural landscape.

Students analyze the purpose, function, and professional decision making in arts and cultural organizations. They will be able:
• To describe the internal structure, cultures and operations of non-profit arts and cultural organizations;
• To examine issues of organizational governance, leadership, and human resources;
• To design, implement, and evaluate innovative audience-focused programming;
• To develop entrepreneurial skills vital in generating and managing revenues and resources.

Students understand the professional role and responsibilities of the artist and the cultural worker in society. They will be able:
• To reflect on the personal, social and cultural value of arts and culture;
• To examine the non-profit, public, commercial, and academic career paths open to artists and those working in cultural fields;
• To develop entrepreneurial skills for the marketplace of ideas, arts products, and cultural services;
• To gain practical experience in arts and cultural venues through individual and group research projects, mentorships, internships and study abroad.

Students practice the principles of entrepreneurship as applied to arts and culture. They will be able:
• To practice creative and critical thinking;
• To recognize trends and opportunity for arts and cultural in various environments;
• To create social and economic value through innovative art practice;
• To actively engage the public in arts and cultural activity.

Co-Curricular Opportunities
Ohio State offers many opportunities for students to learn and grow outside of the classroom. Co-ops and internships place students in professional environments while they are Ohio State students. Ohio State offers more than 100 study abroad programs in 40 countries around the world. In addition, there are hundreds of student organizations on campus to meet the interests of a diverse student population.

These opportunities enable students to gain valuable work experience, learn about other cultures, and take on leadership roles before they enter the workforce. All of these experiences enhance learning and may provide an advantage in the job market.

Honors & Scholars Programs
Ohio State offers the Honors and Scholars programs to create an environment of intellectual support and stimulation within a close-knit community of high-ability undergraduate students. Through these programs, students have access to smaller classes, undergraduate research opportunities, close working relationships with faculty, priority scheduling, and unique housing options.

Visit honors-scholars.osu.edu to learn more about the Arts Honors Program or the Arts Interdisciplinary Scholars Program.

Career Prospects in Arts Management
While the needs of the field and its organizations are specific, the arts management major emphasizes the importance of interdisciplinary study blending concepts and skills from multiple arts disciplines, public policy environments, and management operations. The BA in Arts Management prepares students to work in community-based arts and nonprofit cultural institutions, public arts agencies, and commercial arts businesses.
